

Haunting Checklist

- Floorboards creak when no one is there
- Parts of the house/apartment are always drafty, despite the absence of vents or open windows
- Your dog barks at nothing (or your cat has hissy fits)
- Furniture is frequently found in different places, but your roommates swear they didn't touch anything
- Doors slam when you're home alone
- Strange sounds echo through your home at night – such as a child's laughter or a baby crying (only check this category if you don't have a child or baby that could be making these sounds)
- You often see movement in your peripheral vision, but when you turn to look, nothing is there
- Your child/younger sibling is attached to an imaginary friend that he/she insists is real
- You actually saw a ghost*

*If you checked this category, then you're probably haunted
